For Second Straight Time Quintard's Matford Vic Is Judged Best Dog of Any Breed in Westminster Show

MATFORD VIC BEST DOG OF ANY KIND IN WESTMINSTER SHOW

Geo. Quintard Offers His Second Thrill in Two Days by Releasing His Star.

GREAT CROWD CHEERS CLOSING DAY FEATURE

History repeated itself ; esterday in Madison Square Garden when George Quintard's wire haired fox terrier Champion Motford Vic, winner of the special for best dog of either sex in the show at the Westminster last year, was selected again for this honor. Yesterday was the closing day of the fortieth annual show of the Westminster Cennel Club and the leading winners of the various breeds judged during the four days were in the ring to compete for supreme laurels.

For four days Matford Vic had reposed quietly on her bench. She was entered for specials only, and her owner, who had been rather unsuccessful during the judging of the regular fox terrier classes on Tuesday, had kept her in the background as a sort of ac-Her first appearance in for all the dogs that were eligible to was the winner.

Twenty-five blue blooded canines responded to the call, representing the foremost talent of the many breeds entered. Quintard was one of the last, in the ring with his entry and when he led in the little gem of dog flesh a murmur ran around the ringside which was at high pitch and here and there groups of dog men representing every breed in the show were seen discussing the chances of the various contenders.

Harry N.
